

Dr. Sophia Lubin is a board-certified ObGyn for the past 16 years in her native New York City area. She currently practices at Symphony Medical providing a wide range of services, including routine obstetrical and gynecologic care, as well as surgical interventions. Being a women's health and well-being enthusiast, she spreads her knowledge and care through her recently launched podcast "Dr. Sophia Obgyn" where she helps women learn about their bodies and embrace themselves. Dr. Sophia is also a committed humanitarian who has provided medical and ObGyn relief efforts in the Caribbean.